Tell Your Product's Story

tiny twist how-to

Step 1: Pull apart. This is the best tip to getting your Tiny Twists in with ease! Using a gentle touch, carefully pull apart the loops which will make them easier to thread into your piercing.

Step 2: Twist in. Once the Tiny Twist is around your lobe, push one end through your piercing and begin twisting it through, like you're putting a key on a keychain.

Step 3: Pinch together. Once they're in, gently squeeze the loops back together to the distance of your liking.

Step 4: Enjoy forever. They're so easy to wear, you just may never take them out! But if you need to, repeat these steps backwards. Begin by pulling the loops gently apart, and untwisting them from your piercing.

ORIGINAL ARTWORK GIFTED BACK TO NATURE

Co-owner Vicki creates stunning yet fleeting works of art made of 100% mother nature. Once her original is photographed, it's recycled back into the earth. The originals are temporary, but our prints last forever.

the process

GATHERING

Vicki begins each piece by going for a walk around her own backyard. She's truly in the moment while she's foraging, her eyes scanning every square inch of her surroundings. A fallen leaf goes into her bag, later it may become an eyebrow or dog's ear. She picks up thin twigs hoping they'll work as a cheekbone or chin. The possibilities seem endless!

Behind the Scenes

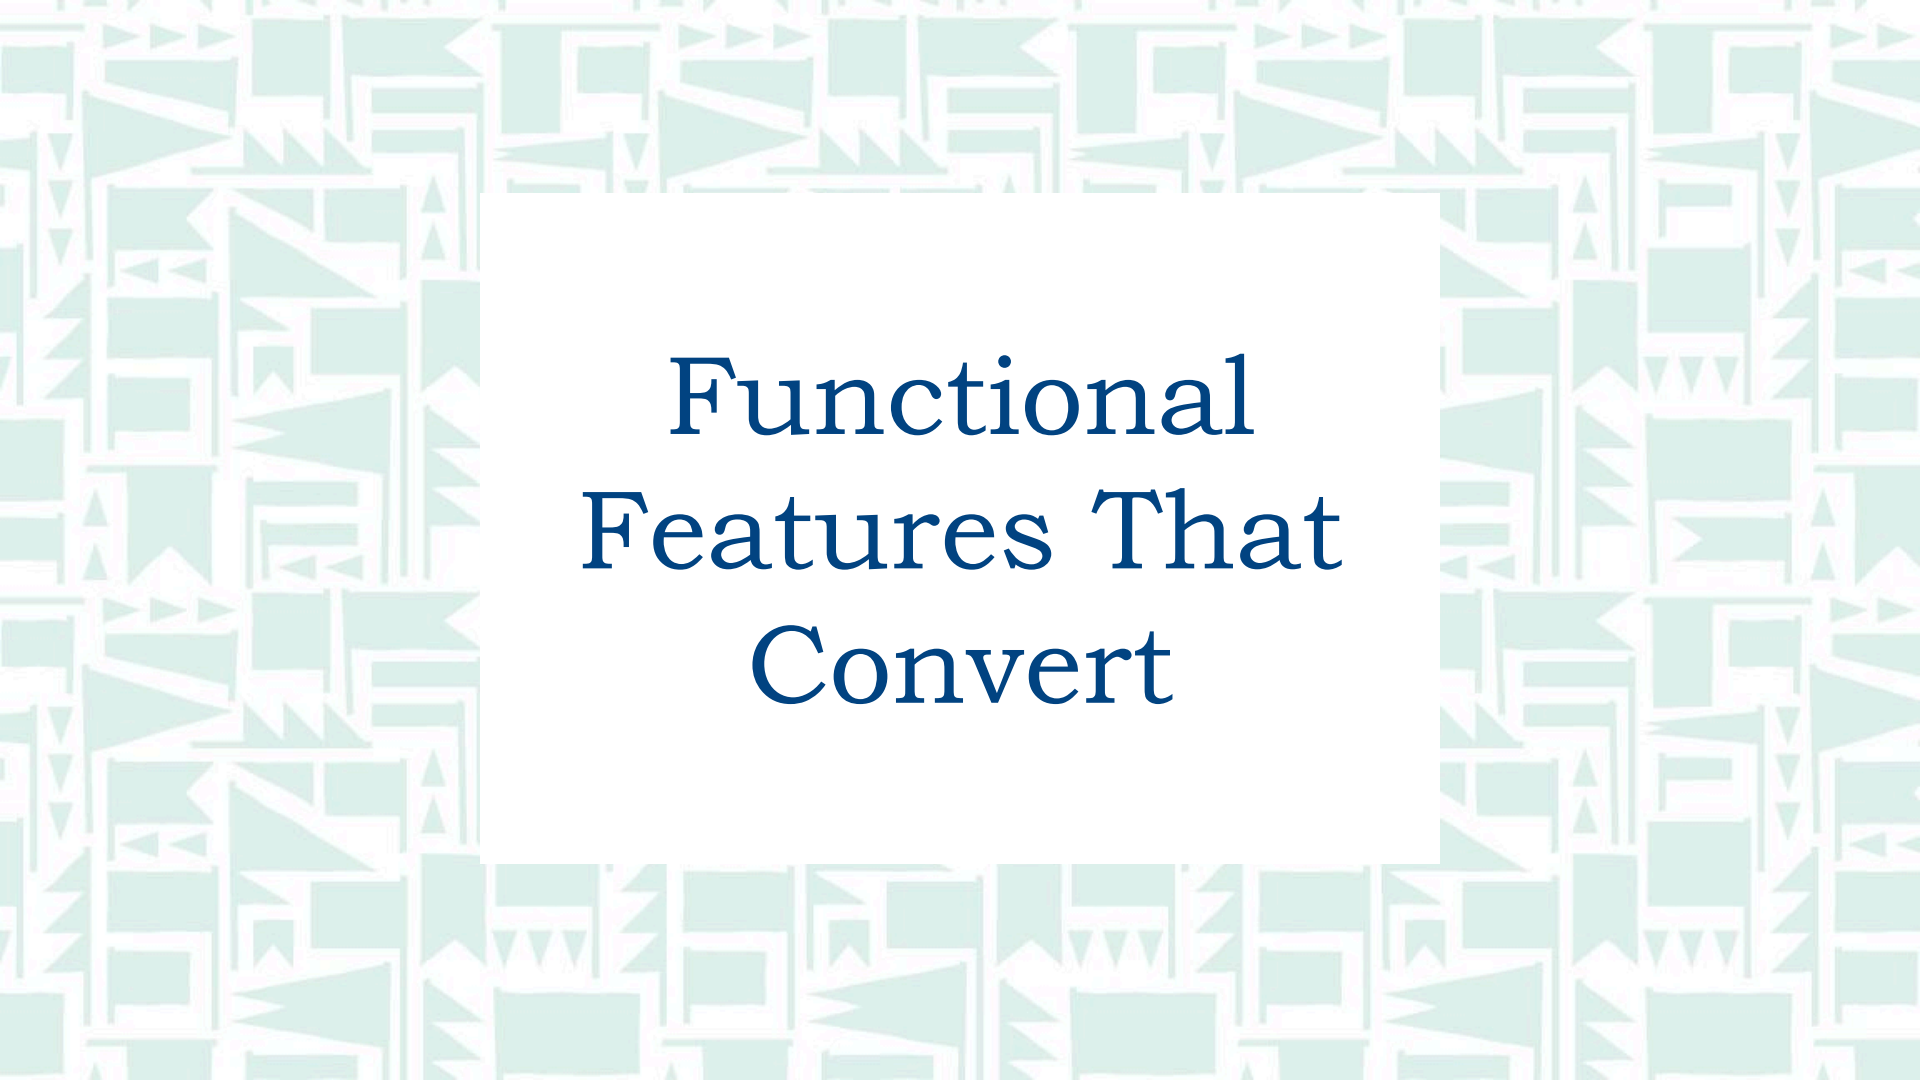

We always begin any map with research into the region. We choose well-loved landmarks and use them as a focal point for the map.

We then begin the process of painting each location by hand. For every map, we usually create about five to ten new drawings.

All drawings are digitized, then we design and arrange them onto the final map, editing and adjusting the design so that each map feels full of life and detail.

OUR AWARDS & PRESS

Core Values

LITTLE APPLE TREATS, Sebastopol, California

Plant farmers Joanne Krueger and Dan Lehrer certainly know how to make the most of something—especially when it comes to apples. The husband-and-wife duo bought land in 1999 with the simple goal of expanding their nursery business, but the 22-acre orchard they found on the plot became their calling. Its fruit famously flavored Apple Jacks cereal in the '70s, so they decided to tap into its full potential. First they turned the property organic (a rigorous three-year process). Then they began fermenting cider vinegars in oak barrels from a nearby winery, and quickly garnered a fan base at the farmers' market. "Then I thought, What else can I do with apples?" Krueger says. Her answer: buttery caramels, chewy granolas, and bracingly tart and delicious shrubs. —Erica Sloan

To make their acidic syrups called shrubs, Krueger and Lehrer infuse their award-winning cider vinegars with fruits, flowers, a bit of sugar, and fresh and dried herbs.

THE DETAILS (from left): Original apple-cider vinegar, $20 for 12.7 oz.; ginger-and-hibiscus shrub, $25 for 12.7 oz.; and Meyer lemon-and-green-coriander shrub, $25 for 12.7 oz., littleappletreats.com.

Made Pathfinder vest with crossover front, curved drop back, and bear ears on the hood for a bit of fun for 1 year old boy. The faux leather was 'wool'padded so did not need lining. Thanks its awesome.

long weekend activity :)

The pathfinder baby and children's vest patterns were so simple to follow. I learnt a lot as I moved through using these patterns and I felt clever and proud at the end of the process. I made three vests in one long weekend - was the most therapeutic weekend I'd had in a long time. The mother of the children who I made these vests for received these vests in the mail today (photo attached) - she can't wait to see her children wearing their vests and I can't wait to see these vests being worn in the wild :)

I love this pattern. Easy to follow instructions. Made it for my youngest granddaughter.

great directions. fun vest

I wanted to make a vest to go with some pants I wanted to make. I ended up making this vest out of a Ponte with a jersey lining. It is surprisingly warm. I know it is written for wovens, but it worked just fine with some moderate stretch fabric. The directions were easy to understand and I didn't have to make any adjustments.

LOVE these! My body doesn't

LOVE these! My body doesn't react well to piercings or cheap earrings in the piercings I already have. This is sad because I love piercings and earrings! So these are wonderful because they don't hurt my sensitive ears and make it look like I have more than I do! Also they are super comfortable to sleep

These are perfect! I've had my second hole pierced since I was young but never wore earrings in them because they were so sensitive and would turn red/swell no matter what kind of earring I wore. I REALLY wanted to like these. I love the idea of them and how they looked - however practically the lose end of the earring kept getting caught in my pillow at night and sometimes even my blanket. extra softness. A slightly slub weave adds texture, and a structured, lightly crisp drape adds volume, which is ideal for the loose fit of this top/dress. A dream of a fabric!

- Oatmeal Pinstripe Linen Cotton Blend – Soft and serene, this fabric is made for the beach (and beyond). A natty pinstripe weave elevates the neutral oatmeal color to something wonderful. Call it coastal grandmother meets tailored chic. We just love it!
- Denim Blue Tablecloth Check Linen – To look at this check linen is to fall in love. Different tones of blue combine to create a patchwork check that hints at quilted fabric and country gingham. But the linen content elevates the fabric to something divine. A supple, fuller bodied drape means a looser fit for this top and swingy kick for the dress. Just looking at the fabric, we want to twirl. So imagine how you'll feel when wear it!

A woman with blonde hair is captured in a joyful moment, spinning in front of a historic stone building. She is wearing a sleeveless, knee-length dress with a bold green and white geometric pattern. The dress has a full skirt that is flaring out as she spins, and a green tassel hangs from the waist. The background shows the stone walls and arches of an old building, with a statue visible in the distance.

Make a single piercing look like a double piercing with our Tiny Twist Earrings! These twist earrings are perfect for all day, everyday wear - twist them in and you may never need to take them out!

- Sold as a pair.
- If you have really thin lobes, or your piercing is placed very low and you'd like these to fit snug to your skin, we recommend the smaller size.
- The gauge of these earrings is 19g which is slightly thicker than the average ear wire. They will fit most piercings but may be uncomfortable for very sensitive ears.
- We recommend 8mm for nostril and cartilage piercings.
- Available in 14kt Gold Fill + Sterling Silver in both styles, and 14kt Rose Gold Fill in our Classic style.
- Handmade in Eau Claire, WI.

Our jewelry is handmade so each piece will be unique and may vary slightly from what is pictured.

tiny twist how-to

Step 1: Pull apart. This is the best tip to getting your Tiny Twists in with ease! Using a gentle touch, carefully pull apart the loops which will make them easier to thread into your piercing.

Step 2: Twist in. Once the Tiny Twist is around your lobe, push one end through your piercing and begin twisting it through, like you're putting a key on a keychain.

Step 3: Pinch together. Once they're in, gently squeeze the loops back together to the distance of your liking.

Step 4: Enjoy forever. They're so easy to wear, you just may never take them out! But if you need to, repeat these steps backwards. Begin by pulling the loops gently apart, and untwisting them from your piercing.

LOVE these! My body doesn't

LOVE these! My body doesn't react well to piercings or cheap earrings in the piercings I already have. This is sad because I love piercings and earrings! So these are wonderful because they don't hurt my sensitive ears and make it look like I have more than I do! Also they are super comfortable to sleep

These are perfect! I've had my second hole pierced since I was young but never wore earrings in them because they were so sensitive and would turn red/swell no matter what kind of earring I wore. I've been wearing the silver tiny twists for 3ish weeks and haven't had a single issue with them. They are

I REALLY wanted to like

I REALLY wanted to like these. I love the idea of them and how they looked - however practically the lose end of the earring kept getting caught in my pillow at night and sometimes even my blanket. My hair also got caught in them often and that was also super annoying. I got a 8mm size. I really wanted

Allergic reaction

I had an allergic reaction to the ends of the twists where they hit my ears. They look like the ends have tarnished over time. After a week of use and cleaning, my ears were scabbed over. The twisted twists are also very uncomfortable once in. On a better note, taking them out was a whole lot easier

childs vest

Made Pathfinder vest with crossover front, curved drop back, and bear ears on the hood for a bit of fun for 1 year old boy. The faux leather was 'wool'padded so did not need lining. Thanks its awesome.

long weekend activity :)

The pathfinder baby and children's vest patterns were so simple to follow. I learnt a lot as I moved through using these patterns and I felt clever and proud at the end of the process. I made three vests in one long weekend - was the most therapeutic weekend I'd had in a long time. The mother of the children who I made these vests for received these vests in the mail today (photo attached) - she can't wait to see her children wearing their vests and I can't wait to see these vests being worn in the wild :)

great directions. fun vest

I wanted to make a vest to go with some pants I wanted to make. I ended up making this vest out of a Ponte with a jersey lining. It is surprisingly warm. I know it is written for wovens, but it worked just fine with some moderate stretch fabric. The directions were easy to understand and I didn't have to make any adjustments.
